

CHICAGO TEACHERS' FEDERATION MUST GO

Board Adopts Resolution Calling for Abolition of Organization

WRANGLE PRECEDES VOTE

Decision of Board Provides for Penalty of A Fine, Suspension or Dismissal

"VICTORY FOR TEACHERS"

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The Chicago Teachers' Federation, considered one of the most influential organizations of its kind in the country, must disband within the next three months. By a vote of 11 to 9 the Board of Education late tonight voted to adopt the resolution of Jacob M. Loeb, chairman of the rules committee calling for abolition of the federation. Earlier in the afternoon Chairman Loeb had succeeded in having adopted a motion to suspend the federation relative to balloting on the federation resolution. A spirited wrangle preceded the vote on this proposal in which three trustees nearly came to blows over the question of which was entitled to the floor.

Three Hundred Hear Edict. More than 300 persons, mostly women, who crowded the board rooms, heard the edict which prohibits any teacher from membership in the federation or any kind of a so-called "labor organization."

Under the rule adopted by the decision of the board of education public school teachers are prohibited from belonging to the federation under penalty of a fine, suspension or dismissal. It means that all teachers who are now members of the federation or any organization affiliated with the "American Federation of Labor" must withdraw immediately and at no time in the future to establish a similar association.

Previous Attempts Unsuccessful. The federation had been active in school affairs for more than ten years and although several previous attempts were made to dissolve it, none were successful and at no time was the organization seriously threatened. Meyer J. Stein, chief counsel for the Baldwin senate education committee which is investigating the public school system, tonight described the action of the board as a "victory" for the school teachers—the greatest in a decade.

"The action of the board of education in ousting the so-called teachers' federation marks the beginning of a complete and drastic re-organization of the entire public school system of Chicago," Mr. Stein asserted. "The action of the board in adopting an amendment to their rules was the direct result of startling revelations made by investigators connected with this commission and it was the greatest victory that the school teachers of Chicago have won in a decade. But more than all, it is a victory for the hundreds of thousands of school children of this city who have been the unfortunate little victims of a system so pernicious and so self-destructing that one marvels at the patience of the parents."

Mr. Stein further asserted that teachers' federation was composed of less than 500 members out of a total of 7,500 teachers in Chicago.

Charges Bribery and Conspiracy. Charges were made tonight by Miss Margaret Haley, business agent of the teachers' federation, that bribery and conspiracy played a part in the action taken by the board of education. Her charges were made to Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston, Jr., who instructed his visitor to return to his office tomorrow morning with whatever evidence she might have in support of her allegations. He told Miss Haley that if she had any evidence upon which to base an investigation the matter would be presented to a state grand jury for consideration.

Accompanying Miss Haley when she called at state's attorney's office was Victor Olander, representing the state federation of labor.

GRAIN PRODUCTION OUTSIDE WAR ZONE SHOWS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Grain production in countries outside the war zone has increased this year by twenty per cent. The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome in a cablegram to the department of agriculture received today, estimated the aggregate 1915 crops of Denmark, Netherlands, Roumania, Canada, India, Japan, Spain, Ireland, England, Scotland, Italy, European Russia, Switzerland, Tunis and the United States, as follows:

Wheat—2,703,000,000 bushels, an increase of 20.2 per cent over 1914.

Rye—1,062,000,000 bushels, an increase of 18.7 per cent.

Barley—1,016,000,000 bushels, an increase of 17.8 per cent.

Oats—2,735,000,000 bushels, an increase of 13.1 per cent.

GRAND JURY PROBES LYNCHING OF FRANK

JURORS MAY CONCLUDE EXAMINATION AND REPORT TODAY

Judge Charges Jury That Crime Should Be Thoroughly Investigated and That Jurors Were Not Compelled "To Do Detective Work to Perform Their Duties."

Marietta, Ga., Sept. 1.—The Cobb county grand jury drawn for the July court term was charged today by Judge H. J. Patterson to investigate the "recent lynching in this county" and at the close of the day several witnesses had been examined for information they might have on the hanging of Leo M. Frank. Indications were that the jurors could conclude the examination of the thirty-five or more witnesses called in time to report tomorrow.

Judge Patterson was emphatic on three points in his charge: That the crime should be thoroughly investigated; that this was not a special grand jury as had been reported and that the jurors were not "secret service men" compelled "to do detective work to perform their duties."

He said Cobb county never had needed a special grand jury and inferred that the Frank lynching was not the sole cause of reconvening the jury that served during the July term.

Soon after the juryment retired witnessed called in the Frank case went before them but the majority remained only a few minutes. Tomorrow it is expected members of the Georgia prison commission will be examined. Three members of the commission were at the state prison the night Frank were taken away.

ADMIRAL FULLAM IS RELIEVED AS HEAD OF U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Captain E. W. Eberle Is Chosen for Post—Fullam Goes to Reserve Fleet at Puget Sound.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Rear-Admiral William F. Fullam today was relieved as superintendent of the United States naval academy, to be succeeded by Captain E. W. Eberle, now commandant of the Washington navy yard and superintendent of the naval gun factory. Admiral Fullam will succeed Rear-Admiral Charles F. Pond in command of the Pacific reserve fleet at Puget Sound, the latter being ordered to Portsmouth, N. H., to be commandant of the yard there.

While Acting Secretary Roosevelt issued orders for the new assignments, he acted at the direction of Secretary Daniels who is on a tour of inspection of Atlantic coast naval stations. No reasons were given in the department's announcement of the changes.

Admiral Fullam now is in command of the academy practice squadron, which has just passed through the Panama canal on the homeward journey from San Francisco. The order for his relief at the academy becomes effective Sept. 20th.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR CUSTOMERS' PROPERTY HELD BY JARED FLAGG

Ellsworth Cook Institutes Suit in Behalf of Himself and All Other Customers of Flagg Who Have a Share in Assets.

New York, Sept. 1.—Ellsworth E. Cook of Shelbyville, Ill., in an equity suit filed in the federal district court here today, asked that a receiver be appointed to take over the funds, securities and other customers' property, valued at between $200,000 and $300,000, in the possession of Jared Flagg, who was convicted of using the mails to defraud in a brokerage scheme and sentenced to a term in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Cook instituted the suit in behalf of himself and all other customers of Flagg who have a share in the assets.

Cook states that during the four years Flagg conducted the scheme he received more than $1,100,000 from customers. Of this about $500,000 was paid back as alleged profits.

NEW RAILROADS IN OPERATION TODAY.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—Seattle will be drawn into closer business relations with two of the richest sections of Western Washington, when two brand new railroads are placed in passenger and freight operation today. The new roads are the Willapa Harbor and Olympic Peninsula branches of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. The new trackage is 150 miles, and it opens up a productive farming country and gives an outlet for lumber and shingle mills.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 1.—The Paducah & Illinois railroad, which has been built from this city to the Burlington bridge opposite Metropolis, Ill., will be put in active operation today.

INITIATED CANDIDATES.

At the regular meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday evening two candidates were initiated. They were Arleigh Horton and H. K. Johnson. Three applications were also received. After the meeting a smoker was enjoyed.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

REPORTS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AGENTS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Indicate Slight Improvement With Large Crops in Sight, Special Lines Stimulated by Foreign Orders and Money Still Easy.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Business conditions throughout the United States have changed but little in the last month, according to reports from the twelve federal reserve agents made public today by the federal reserve board. The reports indicate slight improvement with large crops in sight, the following in special lines stimulated by foreign orders and money still easy and plentiful.

Emergency Orders Increase. Boston reported increased emergency orders with direct or indirect effect in all lines of trade. Unsettled labor conditions are troubling manufacturers. From the New York district it is reported that industry, particularly in iron, steel, machinery, wool and leather is more active, with foreign orders the principal stimulus.

There has been little change in the Philadelphia district and the report adds "the expected general improvement has not appeared and the outlook is uncertain."

Cleveland reports that gains shown last month are being held although there has been no decided new advance. Domestic trade has not reached normal but a better feeling prevails in the jobbing and retail trade. The feature of the month in the Atlanta district was the revival of the iron industry around Birmingham. The blowing in of several additional furnaces and a demand for labor had a good effect on general trade. Railroad men feel optimistic that their business is about to improve.

Show General Business Advance. The Chicago report says that "August developments in the seventh district show the general business advance," with better than average crops in sight and iron and steel plants running to capacity.

The automobile cities in the district report unusual demand for new models and enlargement of factory facilities.

Changes noted in conditions in the St. Louis district are reported as for the better. There is increased activity in general business and, with the promise of an excellent harvest, "conditions should continue to improve."

Harvesting Big Grain Crop. The Northwest is harvesting its big grain crop, Minneapolis reports and wholesale and retail business is responding promptly to that influence. The yield in small grains is expected to be unusually large.

Dallas had a six week drought in a part of the district which reduced materially the cotton yield but the report says that general business conditions have been improving steadily. The unsettled condition of the exchange market has affected the San Francisco district in its foreign trade as has the lack of ships. Lumber is more in demand but prices are low. Railroads are busy with increased earnings.

CONTINUED WET WEATHER MAY CHANGE WHEAT CROP ESTIMATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Continued wet weather that has delayed harvesting may change the government's preliminary estimate of the production of this year's winter wheat crop forecast August 9th, at 659,000,000 bushels. Crop reporters in eleven states where rain has caused delay in making addition inquiries today in connection with the September crop condition canvass as to the extent of damage to winter wheat. When the September report is issued next Wednesday a revised preliminary estimate may be necessary.

MICHAEL ZIMMER OF CHICAGO IS NAMED WARDEN AT JOLIET

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 1.—Michael Zimmer of Chicago was tonight appointed warden of the state penitentiary of Illinois at Joliet by the commissioner of the penitentiary, meeting at the penitentiary. He succeeded Edmund Allen, who resigned following the murder of his wife and the refusal of Governor Dunne to permit him to reside in Chicago.

Mr. Zimmer was former Sheriff of Cook county and was former city comptroller of Chicago.

DUNNE MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 1.—Governor Dunne today made the following appointments:

Advisory board free employment office—John H. Walker, president Illinois Federation of Labor, Springfield; Mrs. Raymond Robins, Chicago; Oscar G. Mayer, Chicago; A. H. Atwood, Chicago.

Deputy state factory inspector—C. M. Brown, East St. Louis, to succeed Charles Ducas, resigned.

The state board of administration appointed W. H. Claggett, of Lexington, superintendent of the Soldiers' Orphans' home at Normal to succeed L. M. Van Petten, resigned.

DYER HEADS SPANISH VETS.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 1.—L. C. Dyer of St. Louis was unanimously elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War veterans in annual convention here today.

GERMANY ACCEPTS POSITION OF U. S.

Count Von Bernstorff Gives Oral and Written Assurances to Lansing

WILL WARN ALL LINERS

Officials Frankly Admit Gratification Over Changed Position of the Imperial Government

EXPECT DISAVOWAL OF ACT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Strained relations between the United States and Germany over submarine warfare apparently passed into history today after Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador in former Secretary Lansing in writing that prior to the sinking of the Arabic his government had decided that its submarines should sink no more liners without warning.

Frankly Admits Gratification. Oral assurances to this effect had been given by the ambassador last week. But it was not until Count Von Bernstorff, after a call at the state department today returned to the embassy and sent a letter to Mr. Lansing quoting instructions from Berlin concerning an answer to be made to the last American note on the sinking of the Lusitania that officials frankly admitted their gratification over the changed position of the imperial government.

Secretary Lansing said in a formal statement, that the letter "appears to be a recognition of the fundamental principle for which we have contended." He immediately sent the communication to the white house and discussed it in cheerful vein with his callers, who included Chief Justice White, Secretary McAdoo and Senator Tillman of South Carolina.

Visible Relaxation of Tension. Everywhere in administration circles there was a visible relaxation of the tension which had existed ever since the Lusitania tragedy though lessened by the earlier assurances of Count Von Bernstorff and advice from Ambassador Gerard as to the attitude of officials in Berlin.

The next step, it is stated authoritatively, will be formal communication from the German government, disavowing the destruction of the Arabic and tendering regret and reparation for American lives lost in the German submarine. Even if the submarine which torpedoed the liner was subsequently sunk by a British man of war, as has been suggested both from Berlin and London, the Berlin foreign office is expected to send its disavowal as soon as a reasonable time has passed without a report from its commander.

Expect Complete Understanding. Once the situation growing out of the Arabic incident has been disposed of, the response to the long unanswered American note on the Lusitania will be dispatched and if Germany's explanations and proposals in this case are accepted by the United States, both officials and diplomats here expect the way to be cleared for a complete understanding between the two governments on the subject of freedom of the seas. In German circles it is freely admitted that in Berlin a hope prevails that such an understanding would be followed by insistent action by the United States to stop interferences with neutral commerce by Great Britain and her allies which prevent Germany from importing food supplies for her civil population.

Wait for Formal Communication. Secretary Lansing interpreted "liner" to mean all peaceful merchant ships. Later in informal conversation the German ambassador explained that regular passenger vessels were meant. There seemed to be no disposition, however, to question the intention of the Berlin government to grant the fundamental demands of the United States and officials were inclined to await for the formal communication without discussing the meaning of terms.

It was pointed out, too, that the cases at issue between the two governments concern passenger liners and that so far no question had arisen as to a freight vessel carrying Americans in her crew.

GOVERNMENT FILES ANSWER TO BRIEF OF ROBERTS' ATTORNEYS

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The answer of the government to a brief filed some weeks ago by attorneys for Don M. Roberts and others, convicted of election frauds in Terre Haute, Ind., was filed in the United States circuit court of appeals today by Frank C. Dailey, United States district attorney at Indianapolis.

The document covers 110 printed pages and sets forth that the brief filed for the alleged conspirators asking that the trial court be declared in error does not comply with the rules of the court of appeals.

EXPECT THAT WILSON WILL BE RE-NOMINATED

CLOSEST FRIENDS OF PRESIDENT LAY THEIR PLANS ACCORDINGLY

Executive Is Taking No Part in Such Plans, It Is Stated Authoritatively—Expresses Gratification Over Indorsement.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Indications were given here tonight that President Wilson's closest friends expected him to be re-nominated for the presidency in 1916 and are laying their plans accordingly. The president himself, it was said authoritatively, however, is taking no part in such plans.

Gratification felt by the president over the action of Democrats in the tenth congressional district of Wisconsin in indorsing his administration was expressed in a letter from Secretary Tumulty which became public here tonight. A telegram to the president announcing the endorsement stated that it was voted "unanimously" at a mass meeting called "for the purpose of arranging for the campaign of 1916."

Word that Kentucky Democrats assembled in a state platform convention had endorsed President Wilson for re-nomination in 1916 also was welcome news at the white house but no formal comment was made.

Senator James, author of the resolution adopted in Kentucky, is one of the president's political advisers.

Last September, Secretary Tumulty sent a letter to a New Jersey Democratic leader asking that no steps be taken to indorse the president for another term and saying "the president feels that it might seem as if he were taking advantage of the extraordinary situation now existing to gain a personal advantage through such an expression of confidence."

As far as the president himself is concerned he is understood to take the same position at present but many of his friends are declared to believe that no further effort should be made to stop political endorsements which may be offered.

FAVORABLE WEATHER IMPROVES FOREST FIRE SITUATION

Lower Temperatures, Some Precipitation and an Absence of Wind Aid Fire Fighters.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 1.—Owing to more favorable weather conditions the forest fire situation in Oregon today showed improvement although several fires in the state were still uncontrolled. Lower temperatures, some precipitation and an absence of wind were aiding fire fighters in the national forests, according to the district forester here. South of Mount Hood an extensive area was still ablaze today and a large force of men was combating it. Several smaller conflagrations in the same district were being confined to given areas. In Union and Wallowa counties numerous fires were still burning. Reports as to the progress of the subduing temperature were indefinite. Fires in other parts of the state are reported under control.

RAIN AID FIRE FIGHTERS.

and Point Idaho, Sept. 1.—Rain in certain sections of northern Idaho aided the forest fire fighters in checking the numerous fires today. The fire near Bonners' Ferry which was beyond control yesterday is not now considered serious. The town of Fernwood, which was in danger of destruction was saved by a change of the wind.

SHERIFF OUTDISTANCES MOB IN AUTO RACE TO BOWLING GREEN

Attempt Is Made to Capture and Lynch Harrison Rose, a Negro Accused of Murder.

Bowling Green, Sept. 1.—A mob of several hundred farmers, having been outdistanced by a sheriff's party in an automobile race from Elsherry to Bowling Green, surrounded the Pike county jail here tonight and threatened to lynch Harrison Rose, a negro accused of murder.

A speech by Prosecuting Attorney McGinnis calmed the mob for a while and they dispersed. Later the mob reformed and late tonight threatened to break into the jail.

Rose, it is charged killed Dudley Davidson, a member of a thrashing party yesterday. The negro escaped but was caught near Elsherry by a sheriff's posse late today.

SEPTEMBER BRINGS HIGHER WAGES.

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 1.—Eighteen hundred workers at the local refineries of the Standard Oil Co. receive a 10 per cent. increase in wages today. The men benefited are mechanics and laborers.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 1.—A 5 per cent. increase in wages, in the form of bonuses, goes into effect today at the revolver plant of Smith & Wesson. The bonus will run for a year and will be paid quarterly.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 1.—Women workers of Illinois are celebrating an important victory. For the first time in the history of the state, women employees of the state begin today to get the same wages as men wages today. The men benefited are mechanics and laborers.

The new plan goes into force in the 21 charitable institutions operated by the state and affects 3,500 workers.

FIND TWO MORE BODIES IN HULL OF SUBMARINE

ONE IS BELIEVED TO BE REMAINS OF DIVER'S COMMANDER

Fresh Air Is Forced Into Forward Compartment to Facilitate Work There—Nothing Is Yet Found to Clear Mystery of Vessel's Sinking.

Honolulu, T. H., Sept. 1.—Two more bodies were found late today by the men engaged in clearing the hull of Submarine F-4 and one of them is believed by Lieutenant Kirby B. Crittenden to be the remains of either Alfred Ede, who was commander of the diver or of Ensign Timothy A. Parker.

It was the discovery of an officer's cap near the remains, which were found in the after part of the battery compartment, that led to the belief that one of the bodies was that of an officer.

The insignia on the cap was gone and the bodies were in such a state that identification was impossible.

A small note book with much of its contents illegible, was found today but nothing that would clear the mystery of the vessel's sinking was in it. It contained records of the submarine's battery, according to Lieutenant Crittenden, member of the naval board of inquiry.

Fresh air has been forced into the forward compartment of the submarine to facilitate work there. It has not yet been entered in the search for bodies of the twenty-two men who went down in the vessel, March 25th, in Honolulu Bay. None of their bodies has been identified except that of George T. Ashcroft of Los Angeles, a gunner's mate, found yesterday.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RATES MOVE OVER LOW PLANE OF VALUES

Pound Sterling Registers $4.50 at Opening and Closed at $4.54.

New York, Sept. 1.—Foreign exchange rates, led by the English pound sterling, played fast and loose today in checker board moves over the lowest plane of values ever reached in this country. From exchange depression of $4.50 registered at the opening of the market, sterling made its faltering way by leaps and falls to $4.55 1-2 in the late afternoon and fell back at the day's end to $4.54. Francs dropped at a single stroke from 6.03 to 6.09, reaching their lowest value. Lires hovered around 6.54, approximately twenty-six per cent below their normal value, remaining there because they virtually amounted to nothing in the day's dealings.

Reichsmarks zig-zagged between 80 3-8 and 80 5-8. The entire market was in convulsions throughout the day, although the tendency toward hysteria lessened toward the close.

The big bankers of New York, however, were inclined to calm, rather than hysterics. One foreign exchange expert asserted tonight that he doubted whether 10,000 pounds sterling had been bought in this market today. The widely divergent quotations at the opening and the close he ascribed purely to speculators. This view, however, was not generally accepted and there were indications that there had been large dealings in small amounts after sterling had strengthened to 4.52.

For reasons not seen on the surface optimism was more apparent tonight than analysis of this situation seemed to warrant.

REPORT THAT HUNDRED MEXICANS HAVE CROSSED BORDER INTO TEXAS

SIERRA BLANCA, Tex., Sept. 1.—A report received tonight stated that 100 Mexicans have crossed the border in the neighborhood of Hot Springs, El Paso county, today.

Fear an attempt at reprisals for the killing of General Pascual Orozco and four companions in the Green River canon by a local posse on Monday, Sheriff Edwards has left for Hot Springs.

Cowboys and ranch owners are hurrying to reinforce the sheriff. Hot Springs is on the border about 25 miles from here. There is no telegraph or telephone communication.

CHRONICLES FURTHER GAINS FOR ALLIES IN DARDANELLES

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Further gains for the allied forces on the Gallipoli peninsula are chronicled in an official report received from General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the British forces operating against the Turks.

The report says: "Further fighting on the 27th and 28th on the northern section of the line has resulted in the capture of an important tactical point commanding the Buynk-Anafarta Valley to the east and north."

"The fighting was almost entirely hand to hand and of a severe character. Very heavy losses were inflicted on the Turks."

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR CONFESSES.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 1.—The police tonight announced that Geo. W. Healis, the negro chauffeur detained in connection with the shooting last night of Dr. Franklin Mohr and Miss Emily G. Burger, his secretary, as a result of which Dr. Mohr died today, had made a statement involving himself and another negro in the shooting.

TEUTONS CAPTURE FORTRESS OF LUTSK

May Compel Russ to Evacuate that Part of Galicia Still Held by Them

LOSSES ARE ENORMOUS

According to Berlin Muscovites Have Lost 1,000,000 in Prisoners Since May 2

LOOK FOR FRENCH OFFENSIVE

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The minor fortress of Lutsk which with those of Dubno and Rovno forms a fortified triangle on Russian territory just north of the Galician frontier, was captured by the Austrians today, according to the official report from Vienna. It is in this direction that the Austro-German offensive has been most aggressive during the last few days, the object being to separate the Russian army which has been retreating through the Pripiet marshes from that operating in Galicia and which yesterday inflicted, so the Russians claim, a rather severe defeat on the invaders.

May Compel Evacuation.

The capture of Lutsk, however, is likely to compel the Russians despite the victory to evacuate that part of Galicia still held by them; otherwise their flank there would be threatened seriously. Along the rest of the front, except in the center, where the Austro-Germans continue to make a slow advance, the Russians appear to be holding their own. They have thus far prevented the Germans from crossing the Dvina at Friedrichtstadt where a battle has been in progress for several days, they have arrested the German offensive between that point and the gulf of Riga and are still holding their ground between Kovno and Vilna and before Grodno although the outer position of Grodno fortresses.

In the opinion of military writers here the Russians now stand a good chance of winning the race for time, within a few weeks the autumn rains will begin and it is pointed out unless they can succeed in gaining a decisive result before that time the Austro-Germans can hardly hope to smash the Russian armies before, under cover of the long winter, they are re-formed and re-equipped. At present the Austro-Germans are straining every nerve to win this decision but they have been greatly delayed by the intensity of the Russian counter-attacks and the stubbornness with which the Russian troops hold the positions protecting their retreating comrades.

Russian Losses Enormous. The Russian losses of course have been enormous. According to Berlin the Russians have lost 1,000,000 in prisoners since May 2, the date on which the drive began in Western Galicia, while during August alone the captures included more than a quarter of a million men and 2,300 cannon. The Austro-German losses, too, have been heavy in killed and wounded, while the strain on the troops have been terrific. They still have, according to Petrograd estimates, about 2,000,000 men on the eastern front, 300,000 being in the Riga region, more than 1,000,000 in that center and from 600,000 to 700,000 in Galicia.

Look for General Offensive.

For a week the French have been pouring an avalanche of shells into the German lines in the west. It is not believed that this ammunition would be used simply for the purpose of damaging the German trenches and therefore an early general offensive is looked for.

Except from Comenun where the British and French report success over the Germans, there is no news from other battle fronts.

The aldermanic form of government has some good points. That plan was tried for a much longer period than four years and then a change was made. The commission form has been in force only four years, not long enough for a fair test and the time for a change has not arrived.

Mr. Hairgrove is a successful lawyer with an interesting political history. He has never hesitated to "talk out in meeting" or to let the public know his views and position on any public question. He has not always been in accord with the leaders of his party. He has been called a variety of "names," and no doubt his motives have often been misconstrued. Noteworthy facts these, but they have absolutely no bearing on the question of Jacksonville returning to the aldermanic form of government.

Complaint is made because more money is not being spent for street cleaning and repair work and that preference is shown for the business district. With only a limited force of men and very little money for street improvement work it is not at all surprising that all desired work is not done. Residents should remember that no poll tax or wheel tax was collected this year and that a smaller amount of money for street work is available than has been true in the past.

Not the Time to Change.

Mr. Hairgrove's principal argument against the commission form of government is that it is too expensive and that the salaries paid the mayor and commissioners are not commensurate with the services performed. The trouble with that argument now is that the present mayor and commissioners have not been given a chance to prove their value.

They had been in office but two months when the movement for the old form of government was started. As to the matter of salaries no mayor or commissioners of their intent. The present movement for a return to the old form of government would come with better grace had the mayor and commissioners declared their intention of drawing the maximum salaries and then after the passage of some time have given proof that they were not earning the salaries and not rendering the city efficient service.

There is much more of importance to be considered in connection with city officials than the amount of the salaries paid. A mayor and commissioner might be elected who would serve without salary and yet provide a very expensive administration. This might happen not necessarily through corruption but through incompetency. The present officers have never drawn any salary, they have never made any statement as to the amount of salaries to be drawn, they have not been in office long enough to show competence or incompetence and there are certainly no facts to justify at this time a change of government to the old form or any other.

Germany Meets U. S. Demand.

The note delivered to the Washington government Wednesday by Count Bernstorff gives full assurance that the German government will acquiesce to the demands made by the United States with reference to submarine warfare. Germany it seems concedes practically every point made by this government and the note gives evidence of the most kindly feeling for the United States. The concessions made and the tone of the note are strongly contrasted with Germany's earlier attitude and it is believed in Washington that this change was largely due to the attitude of Count Bernstorff. The German diplomat is familiar with the situation in this country and has from time to time given evidence of his realization of public sentiment as related to the United States' attitude toward Germany. He has seen in this attitude a distinct feeling of friendliness, but has understood that underlying it was the firm conviction that the course of this government in the vigorous demands made on Germany must be adhered to at whatever cost. It seems that Count Bernstorff was able to impress upon the Berlin government the real situation in this country and it is likely that the decided change made in announcements from Berlin were effected by his correspondence and more especially by the information and argument he was able to present through the personal envoy he sent to Berlin some weeks ago. It is very possible that the concessions made by Germany will be a long step toward hastening peace in the great war. Certainly the German action will have a tendency to greatly strengthen Germany's position with the people of the United States and some of the American sentiment which has had a leaning toward the allies will likely now take a turn toward Germany's side of the conflict. The course of the administration in dealing with Germany has been justified by the results, and now Americans will join in the hope that England will take equally favorable action in meeting the demands made by our government against England's interference with United States commerce.

Should Use Care to Avoid Typhoid Fever.

While there is no cause for undue alarm all citizens should be warned against typhoid fever at the present time. According to a bulletin issued by the state board of health some time ago the season promises to be one in which typhoid fever will be prevalent. The high water has caused surface water to run into wells and also has had the effect of impairing the sewer services.

According to records there are now thirty cases of typhoid fever in the city. While this is not many it is more than there should be in a city the size of Jacksonville. The cases for the most part are among residents living adjacent to the brook and Mauvaisterre creek.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company has issued a pamphlet which is being distributed among its policy holders giving causes of typhoid and also the way in which to prevent it. People can easily secure these pamphlets or can get such information from their family physicians as will be a great aid in the protection and preservation of health.

Some of the main things to remember are: Boil all the drinking water. Keep flies from food. Don't use impure water for cleaning vegetables. Be sure that the source of your milk supply is clean. Buy only foods that are protected from flies, dust and dirt. If a case should develop in your home see that all the dishes used by the patient are kept by themselves and boiled after using. Be sure that the slops are properly treated with a good disinfectant.

Hard Roadway Should be Completed.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the farmers committee, appointed for the purpose of raising funds for the completion of the Hardin avenue road, was held last night in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. The various members had their subscription blanks with them and the showing insures the hard road being laid, provided citizens come up with their part of the money.

It will be remembered that about a month ago a meeting was called by T. H. Buckthorpe in his offices in order to get up a little enthusiasm for the continuation of the state hard road to the city pavement. At that meeting the farmers agreed to raise at least four-sevenths of the money needed, it being understood that the work would cost in the neighborhood of $3,500. The farmers immediately took their subscription lists and went to work and the result shows for itself. The farmers are ready. It is now up to the city what they shall do and the movement should not fail.

This state road was completed Wednesday and the contractors have had a very bad time of it because of frequent rains and slow movement of material. The concrete extends up to Brooklyn avenue and leaves a long strip of ground through the Mauvaisterre creek bottoms to Hardin avenue. In high water this part of the road is nearly impassable except by boat and a hard road there would be of great benefit to both city and county residents.

Jacksonville depends on the farmers and any thing that can be done to help them is indirectly a help to the town people. So the proposed improvement will be helpful to all.

A meeting of the town committee will be held in the near future and announced through these columns and at that meeting a soliciting committee to wait on the various auto owners and others will be appointed. It is sincerely hoped that everybody will get under this project as well as the farmer committee has done and make the improvement a sure go.

MR. HAIRGROVE PLEADS FOR OLD COUNCIL RULE

PRESENT GOVERNMENT PLAN IS DECLARED TOO COSTLY.

Attorney Resents Attacks Made On His Motives in Waging Present Campaign—Defends Own Record and Reviews Some Political History—Other Speakers Are Promised.

The announcement made by William N. Hairgrove that a meeting would be held at the court house Wednesday night at which he would discuss the question of the city returning to the aldermanic form of government was sufficient to attract a large audience. The circuit court room was filled and quite a number of citizens were unable to gain admission. The audience included about thirty women.

Mr. Hairgrove's principal argument in favor of abandonment of the commission form of government for the aldermanic form was the saving such a change would make in the matter of salaries. He declared that he had voted in favor of the commission form for Jacksonville without thoroughly understanding all of the provisions of the law. He said further that he had voted for four out of five of the present council and that he now favored the change because the mayor and commissioners in his opinion were receiving salaries out of proportion to the services rendered to the city. He read provisions of the commission form law showing that the officials are required to devote only such time to their duties as they consider necessary, and that it is possible for the mayor's salary to be fixed at $2,000 and that of each commissioner at $1,700. He read the ordinance in force under the old form providing that the mayor's salary should be $1,200 a year and that he should devote all of his time to the discharge of his duties.

Reviewed Local Democratic Politics.

A large portion of Mr. Hairgrove's address was devoted to a review of some local political history. He stated that he had never been in favor with certain leaders of the democratic party and that partially for that reason he had always been subject to attack. He referred to the fact that in the present instance that so much comment was made in at least one newspaper about his connection with the movement rather than upon the question under consideration. He defended his own record and said that he had never done anything under cover and that while many good citizens might not agree with him in his point of view, that no charge of inconsistency or dishonesty in any form could be made against him.

"There is nothing sneaking in my record," he said, "and I have always been open and above board in my personal conduct and with reference to any cause that I have espoused." In the latter part of his address Mr. Hairgrove referred briefly to the school controversy and charged that the president of the board and two members acted illegally in the appointments made May 3, and declared them cowardly in their unwillingness to appear in court and answer the suit that he had brought against them. From his view point, this action of the board was planned by two members and the superintendent of the schools, and the concurrence of the mayor was secured before he had a thorough understanding of the situation. "It isn't often that they can rush Henry Rodgers," said the speaker, "as was done in this case. You may do it once with him but as a rule he is a pretty hard man to fool."

Speech Two Hours Long.

Mr. Hairgrove declared that Geo. P. Davis had been elected member of the commission and had been counted out and he charged the present officers with delaying the making of a newspaper contract for the purpose of having both papers hope that they would eventually get to the "pie counter." Mr. Hairgrove's speech was two hours in extent and he certainly must be credited with having held the attention of his auditors. Several times he was applauded, and it was apparent that a goodly portion of those present were in accord with the speaker's views.

In conclusion he read a letter from Congressman B. M. Chipperfield, who is an avowed opponent of the commission form law, in which the writer said he would endeavor to be here for an address but considered it doubtful if he could arrange his affairs for such an engagement. Other speakers Mr. Hairgrove said, including Judge Carl Erler, would be here, and the intention was to have the question thoroughly discussed.

Mr. Hairgrove began his address shortly after 7:30 o'clock. He began by saying that he wanted to speak in defense of himself. He said that he had been called the modern David, Moses, the Colonel, and a series of other names in sarcastic vein—names so numerous that he had to turn to his dictionary to find out the meaning. "The petition which resulted in the calling of the coming election was filed only a few weeks ago and represented a spontaneous movement. The charge has been made that I was paid for my services and I am here to say that the statement is absolutely false. No man has paid me a dollar. My services as a lawyer are for sale, but money cannot buy my opinions and convictions. No one has paid a dog tax on me and I wear nobody's political collar. Someone charged that I was paid money while on a train with the insinuation that it was a fee for work in connection with this election. It was insinuated further that Andrew Russell paid me such a fee, and I am here to say that the only money Andrew Russell ever paid me in his life has been in the form of warrants issued to me through his office as an employee of the state by appointment of Attorney General Lucey. They talk about a big corruption fund in connection with this election and the total expense of the work was $45. Over one thousand names were secured on that petition without any expense at all, people voluntarily circulating the petitions. I contributed $15 to the fund, another man gave $10, and the other $20 was paid by others."

Veiled Reference to Party Leaders.

At this point Mr. Hairgrove mentioned the fact that he had been a liberal contributor towards Democratic campaign funds and that as a member of the state central committee in 1908 and 1909 that he spent $800 of his own money. He referred to his own connection with the Democratic party and said that he became affiliated with the party in 1896 as a matter of principle. He referred to the campaign about twenty years ago when as a young lawyer he was persuaded to become a candidate for state's attorney. He said he borrowed $700 for campaign expenses, worked actively in the country districts on the assurance that certain influences would be for him in Jacksonville, and that when election day came, he found that he had simply been used to crack somebody else on the head. He said that hereafter he would do all right what had happened to him and that the same sort of tactics had been used against that he realized all right what had learned in the school of experience. Mr. Hairgrove declared that he could have had party preference if he had cared to come up by the "coterie's sewer," but that he didn't want to ascend in that way and so had never found favor with certain powers in the Democratic party. He declared that because of a certain independent spirit of his that "from then to yet" these same party leaders had never neglected an opportunity to take a shot at him.

Long Friend of the Mayor.

Reviewing further political matters, Mr. Hairgrove said that when Henry J. Rodgers became a candidate for assessor and treasurer of the county that it was he who went down to Waverly, went to Mr. Rodgers' shop and suggested that he become a candidate. He recounted how he sent several Waverly citizens to Mr. Rodgers to urge his candidacy, and "of the awful but successful fight which followed because Mr. Rodgers didn't belong to the gang either." Mr. Rodgers, he said, had prior to that time made an excellent mayor of Waverly and was counted a safe, sane man of good judgment. "His relations and mine have been the most friendly from our boyhood days until the present. We have disagreed about some things but have always been friends. For example, he was very 'dry' and I was 'wet' but that fact did not interfere with our friendship." Referring again to personal matters, Mr. Hairgrove said "Every time I am before the people something is said about my character. It was so when I was a candidate for judge some years ago, and circulars were distributed attacking me in a vehement way. This same style of campaign against me has been kept up and is being waged against me in the present instance. Much has been said about my views on the saloon question, and my position I admit has not been popular either with the 'wets' or the 'drys.' I believe that with the liquor traffic recognized by law as it is that it is better for a city to have saloons, but when the majority of the people have voted to put them out, I am in favor of the strictest kind of enforcement of the law, and I am 'dry' today so far as Jacksonville is concerned. But the only reason I mention this question is to say that despite efforts made to bring it in, it has nothing whatever to do with the present matter. The saloons were voted out of Jacksonville under the aldermanic form. They were voted out under the commission form at an election when men only voted. They were voted out at an election when both men and women voted and the 'wet' and 'dry' question has nothing whatever to do with the form of government. I opposed the question being put to a vote at the last election and I hope it has been disposed of permanently and will never come up again.

Booze and Business Will Not Mix.

When I was a candidate for county judge they charged that I had no clients except drunkards, gamblers, prostitutes and negroes, and painted my character in such colors that the children in the country used to wake up and cry in the night for fear that I was coming. Now as to my personal habits, in the matter of liquor, I took twenty-five drinks twenty-five years ago where I take one drink now. I have found that a man cannot attend to both drinking and business and that if he has any business that he hasn't any time to attend to drinking. Notwithstanding the attacks which have been made upon me during all these years I have kept on working and I am not ashamed of the clientele I have and expect to continue to work here just as long as I live. I ask no quarter and I am perfectly able to take care of myself. A newspaper reference has been made to my connection with the raid made on 'Ft. Bishop' years ago, but no mention has been made of the fact that I defended the woman involved and that the city was not able to win the case against her. It is a fact that today the woman is married and living in this community a proper life, and it was the action that I took that saved her. What would have been the result had the police and the city won out in that instance. What is the use at all of digging up this matter? What kind of a character assassination mill is that paper running?

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Canals and Railroads

By Ensley Moore.
Member of Illinois State Historical Society.

While not pertaining directly to Jacksonville, an old book entitled:

"A Brief Description of the Canals and Railroads of the United States, comprehending notices of all the most important works of Internal Improvement throughout the several states. By H. S. Turner, Philadelphia, publisher by the author, Nov., 1834" has in it much that may still be a matter of curiosity or interest here.

It is ever and always to be remembered that the early settlers got here on foot, on horseback, in "movers" wagons, stages and carriages, first in canoes and skiffs and keel boats, then on steamboats, and later comers had canals and railroads for short distances, and at intervals more or less wide. This applies to travel throughout the United States up to the year 1850.

By that time various attempts at faster means of travel had been begun. The old book mentioned above, intended as a guide as well as for general information, has a good map of the then settled United States. But it has its curious features to people of today.

One is that Michigan and Arkansas are territories. All of the region north of Illinois to the Canadian line, and east of the Mississippi is marked as the District of Huron, north of Missouri and west of the Mississippi to the Missouri—where part of the Dakota states is now, the region is marked Sioux Indians. West of the Missouri, including part of the states of Dakota now, are the Mandan Indians. West of the north part of Missouri and including parts of Nebraska and Kansas were the Osage Indians; south of this, about where Oklahoma is, came the Ozark district, and then Texas. This map was entered according to Act of Congress "the 16th day of June, 1820."

It need scarcely be said that Illinois had then neither canal nor railroad. It should be remembered in this connection, that the "Northern Cross" railroad, now Wabash, preceded the Illinois and Michigan canal in being open to use clear through the canal, by the difference between 1829 and April 23, 1848.

Tanners Guide also gives profiles of the Erie, Ohio and Chesapeake canals, as well as of the Pennsylvania and Florida canals; and of the Schuylkill navigation of Pennsylvania. On the page with the last three profiles is one of the Massachusetts railroad, and another of the Columbia (Pa.) railroad.

In his "Advertisement"—preface the author states: "In consequence of the numerous inquiries relative to Internal Improvements in the United States, I have been lead to draw up, as an accompaniment to the preceding map (the United States), the subjoined account of the canals and railroads, which exist in the several states." This was dated "Shakespeare Buildings, Philadelphia, 1834."

Older people need not be told that the craze for canals and railroads ran all over the country, and plunged many communities deeply into debt. The Internal Improvement system of Illinois left this commonwealth responsible for $10,000,000. This provided for the improvement of the rivers inside of the state, to the extent of $400,000, and also for a gift of $200,000 "to counties in lieu of railroads or canals."

About all that finally was accomplished was the building of the "Northern Cross" railroad from Mercedosia to Jacksonville and finally to Springfield, with some road bed in addition, and the Illinois and Michigan canal from Chicago to La Salle. It was not until in Gov. Cullom's administration, about 1880, that the last of this state debt was paid. But be it said to the credit of Illinois that our state did not repudiate its obligations.

The legislature which passed the bills was that of 1837, and, singularly enough two citizens of Morgan county were prominent in the project.

Moses says: "The first member formally to move in proposing a plan to the legislature was Stephen A. Douglas of Morgan, who, early in the session, introduced a series of resolutions, in which the improvements to be made were specifically described, and setting forth that they should be constructed and owned by the state, and for the purpose of carrying them forward a loan of millions of dollars should be negotiated on the faith of the state."

Joseph Duncan of this town was then governor of the state.

After various changes and arranging by the legislature the project was adopted. Gov. Duncan remarked on the subject that "such works could only, in his opinion, be made safely and economically in a free government by citizens, or by independent corporations, aided and authorized by the government."

In a few years the legislature "fell over themselves" repealing the Internal Improvement system. Ohio, Indiana and Michigan had gone to similar wild lengths.

Mr. Tanner, in his book, began with Maine, and end through the list of states north and south, describing the canals and railroads. It is a funny story to read now. A large part of the improvements was only projected, described and their estimated cost given. But many were located in very foolish places, and had little or no terminal value.

Tanner, in speaking of New York said: "The first and by far the most important work in this state, is the Erie canal." In that he spoke truly, for it was of untold value in aiding emigration to the west, and developing the northern part of that region, and of building up New York City. It ran from Troy, at the head of the Hudson river, to Buffalo, on Lake Erie—thus affording a water course to Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago—the canal being 363 miles in length.

New York then had two railroads, the Mohawk and Hudson from Albany to Schenectady—16 miles, and the Schenectady and Saratoga, 20 miles long.

Pennsylvania then had two roads: the Columbia, from Philadelphia to a junction with the canal at Columbia, Lancaster county, 81.60 miles; and the Allegheny Portage railroad from Hollidaysburg to Johnstown. Its length was 36.69 miles. This crossed the heights of the Allegheny mountains, and was accomplished by means of "inclined planes." These roads, with the connecting canals covered the distance from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, 394 miles. Connection was made with steamboats running on the Ohio and Mississippi and lesser rivers, as the Illinois. This made the second, easy, so called, route to the west for emigrants, and to the east for goods and supplies.

There were some other lesser roads in Pennsylvania, some being merely coal roads.

Railroads in that state were much more expensive to build than in New York, that is, along the line of the Erie canal. For the mountains had to be crossed, and that was an event in "movers" wagons or stages, and is still so, on the present great "Pennsylvania."

The Baltimore and Ohio, since the third great line to the west, over the Blue Ridge mountains, then ran only from Baltimore to Harper's Ferry, a distance of 80.50 miles. Later it was extended to Wheeling and Parkersburg, W. Va., on the Ohio. Now its branches reach St. Louis and Beardstown.

There were some small roads in Virginia.

Kentucky had the "Lexington and Ohio railroad, passes through Frankfort, and thence to Shippingport." This was the first western road in the northern Mississippi valley, but south of the Ohio. The "Northern Cross" from Mercedosia to Jacksonville, was the first road opened in the Mississippi valley, north of the Ohio river.

Mr. Tanner, as might be expected, at that date, could only say of Illinois: "A canal about 100 miles in length, from Ottawa, or perhaps from Hennepin lower down the Illinois, to Lake Michigan, has long been contemplated." Some one wrote in pencil in Tanner's book, under the head of Illinois: "Also one from Beardstown in Morgan county to Miller's ferry in Sangamon, considered to be of great importance, 20 miles in length."

Mr. Miller seems to have lost his canal and his ferry, so far as history goes.

Such was the transportation system by railroad and canal into the west about the time of the Deep Snow, or a little later. The snow was in 1830-31.

Travel on a canal boat was done at a terrific speed—three to possibly five miles an hour.

A "negro minstrel" some years ago asserted: "My uncle was out of sight of land for five days, one time, on the Erie canal."

The interlocutor said: "Out of sight of land on the Erie canal! That is preposterous! How could it be?"

Number one replied:

"He was drunk in the cabin of a canal boat!"

GENERAL GRAND CHAPTER, ROYAL ARCH MASONS CONVENE

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—The most important Masonic gathering of the year is that which met here today, the thirty-sixth triennial convocation of the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of the United States. This body is composed of past grand high priests and grand high priests, deputy grand high priests, grand kings and grand scribes in each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia. Three days will be devoted by the visitors to the important meetings now under way.

Bernard G. Witt of Henderson, Ky. retires from office as General Grand High Priest, and will be succeeded by George E. Corson, of Washington, D. C., who has been connected with the war department for more than a generation. Mr. Corson was elected to the General Grand chapter at Minneapolis in 1891.

The General Grand Chapter in its present form came into existence in 1806, when it assumed the name it now bears and took jurisdiction over the entire country. In 1826 the centennial meetings were abandoned, and since then the chapter has met triennially. Originally this body possessed considerably authority, but by its present constitution, it is scarcely more than a great Masonic convention, with restricted powers, but accomplishing a great deal for Masonry.

In the industrial building the development in paper making, mat making, weaving, cotton spinning, tanning, mining and other industries will be shown by large exhibits. Education, forestry and art have their separate buildings. The exposition will last three months.

SUSPENDED PASTOR FIGHTS BACK

Canton, O., Sept. 1.—Because he was preaching doctrines regarded as heretic by the heads of his church, Rev. W. W. A convention of the church will meet this week to consider his case and hear the charges brought against him. The charges originally made by a committee of elders was insubordination. This, the pastor says, was a subterfuge to prevent his preaching doctrines that were distasteful to the elders.

UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC AT NICHOLS PARK.

Yesterday the Christian church Sunday school of Concord enjoyed their fourth annual picnic at Nichols park and they surely had a fine time. They invited the schools of the Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Protestant churches of Concord to join them and a goodly number did so and all was happy throughout the day. Some came by automobiles and some by train and all brought baskets full of good things which were fully enjoyed by persons with appetites whetted by the clear day, vigorous exercise and favorable conditions generally. The children enjoyed the playground, all enjoyed the beautiful place which they highly praised, some went boating and all had a fine time.

Henry Williamson, J. T. Kershaw and James Cooper turned out with their automobiles and took as many as they could carry and others reached the place in various ways. Ora Valentine, superintendent of the Christian Sunday school, M. O. Smith, assistant, and Mr. and Mrs. George Woolf, W. H. Williamson and Mrs. Alice Hamm, teachers, all were present and helped make the day a success.

WINSTON TO COMMAND PACIFIC FLEET.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 1.—The Pacific fleet will soon be turned over to Rear Admiral Cameron McK. Winslow, the new commander, by Admiral Thomas B. Howard, who will head the naval examining board at Washington. Read Admiral Winslow will have the rank of a full admiral on assuming command. He is a native of Washington, D. C., and entered the navy 45 years ago. He commanded a division of the Atlantic fleet for two years under Osterhaus and Badger, and at the time of the trouble at Vera Cruz was assigned to command a special squadron and dispatched to Mexican waters. He has recently been on duty at the naval war college at Newport, R. I.

NEW YORK TRIPS TO CURB MIDDLEMAN.

New York, Sept. 1.—Apples, pears, peaches and other fruit grown in New York state will be auctioned at the railroad terminals and salesrooms, beginning today, under the auspices of the state department of Foods and markets. The purpose of the plan is to bring the producer and consumer closer together for their mutual benefit, and to eliminate the big profits of the middlemen in handling the produce and fruit. The producers want to dispose of their fruit at a fair price, and are willing to go direct to the consumers. No restrictions will be placed upon the auctioneers, except that the fruit growers will turn in 5 per cent. of their receipts to pay the auctioneers.

MUNITION SHIPPERS GET ANOTHER PLANT.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Driggs-Seabury corporation, incorporated in Delaware with a capital of $4,000,000, will today take control of the big ordnance works at Sharon, Pa., known as the old Driggs-Seabury Ordnance company. John Stevenson, Jr., founder and president of the old company, is a peace advocate, and for this reason he has refused to accept contracts from European nations for the manufacture of war munitions. It is said that the force of workers will be increased next week and the plant operated night and day on some big contracts secured by the new corporation.

CONCRETE SPEEDWAY MAY CAUSE FREQUENT CHANGES OF DRIVERS

FORT SNEILING, Minn., Sept. 1.—Clifford C. Ireland of Peoria, Ill., and other representatives of the American Automobile association who officiated at this afternoon's qualification trials for Saturday's 500 mile race, gave it as their opinion that frequent changes of drivers because of the new concrete construction of the new Twin City Speedway. The question as to just how much of a tax, if any, the nature of the course will place upon drivers is still a remote one and until Saturday's long grind has been finished no authoritative answer can be given.

"KINGDOM COME"

Who gave his life for the life of man?
Christ died to bring man back again.
(John, 6:63; Hosea, 13:14; John, 5:28,29; Isa, 26:19.)
And when will he bring men back to life?

Soon after the end of the last great strife.
(Zeph, 3:8; Dan., 12:1, 2; Rev., XI:18; Isa., 26:19.)
How many men know the end is near?

"Men's hearts failing them for fear." (Luke, 21:26; Jer., 30:11.)
When Kingdom comes, what sign is for all?

Seeing the human rulers fall.
(Dan., 2:44; Psalm, 82:8; Jes., 25:31 and 51:20.)
What is the first thing Christ will do?

Open up for men, the life anew.
(Dan., 12:1, 2; Rev., XI:18; John, 5:28, 29.)
And with what body shall he live?

With a body new, which the Lord shall give.
(Cor., 15:38 and 33; Ezek., 37:4, 6; Luke, 13:30.)
And how will he look, when the Lord shall show him?

About like he did, so his friends will know him.
(Ezek., 9:10; Ezek., 37:4, 6.)
If a man sins, as he is apt to do?

With little light, his "stripes" shall be few.
(Luke, 12:47, 48.)
If he sins with much light, say, how will it be?

"Many stripes" he will get, as the penalty.
(Luke, 12:47, 48.)
And if he refuses to hear the King?

The "second death" is a dead sure thing.
(Acts, 3:23; Ps., 145:20; Rev., 20:15; Ezek., 18:20.)
Can a man awake from the "second death"?

No, that is the end of his living breath.
(Rom., 6:9, 10; Acts, 3:23; Psalm, 145:20.)
Will he go to a torment of "fire" infernal?

He goes to destruction, and that is eternal.
(Acts, 3:23; Psalm, 145:20; Ezels, 18:20; Psalm, 37:10.)
When shall the sinners cease to be?

When the reign of Christ shall set men free.
(1 Cor., 15:26; Ps., 37:10.)
And when will deaths all disappear?

At the close of Christ's reign of a "thousand year."
(1 Cor., 15:26; Rev., 20:14.)
What must men do to win Christ's favor?

Learn the truth from the reigning Saviour.

1. Tim., 2:3, 4; Heb., 2:14; Jer., 31:34.)
How many men advance in grace?
By vowing allegiance, before His face.
(Isa., 61:8; Eccl., 5:4; Isa., 19:21.)
And what is a prize for living in truth?

"Ye shall return to the days of your youth."
(Job, 33:25; Jer., 31:14; Isa., 58:11.)
For what great "gift" may men then pray?

"Eternal Life," if they obey.
(Luke, 10:25.)
Of what good things have the scriptures told?

"No good thing will he withhold."
(Psalm, 84:11.)
Will every want be gratified?
(Jer., 31:14.)
Will troubles "go", as the scriptures say?

"Sorrow and mourning shall flee away." (Isa., 55:10; Rev., 21:4; Isa., 51:11.)
And shall the weary all find rest?

All obedient shall be blessed (Mt., 23:34.)
May the poor have wealth to smooth their way?
(Psalm, 72:7.)
And will he take disease away?

No sickness reigns in his great day.
(Isa., 33:24; John, 10:28; Rom., 6:23.)
Will men be happier than before?

His words say, "Pleasures evermore."
(Psalm, 16:11.)
Shall pleasures be without alloy?

STATE TREATMENT OF FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

Mr. Culp of Woodson Expresses His Views on That Kind and Kindred Subjects.

Woodson, Ill., Aug. 30, Editor Journal:

I saw an article in the Drovers' Journal of the 23rd of August by the state veterinarian Dr. Dyson, who is planning a scheme to aid the packers. His plan is to place a part of the stockyards in Chicago in quarantine so when a man ship his stock he must bill it whether it has any disease or not and must make affidavit that it is free from disease or cholera. What would we get for our stock by this plan? Dr. Dyson can't tell whether the stock is healthy or not. I have known an official inspector to pass a load of diseased hogs, not being able to tell they were diseased. The state officials are unable to tell when animals are diseased. About the time we think the lid is off some kind of disease breaks out and they say the serum did it. If one or two hogs are sick with fever or some kind of a trouble they kill the whole herd and call it foot and mouth disease and pay the owner too much for his stock. Pay lower prices for killed stock and see how soon foot and mouth disease would disappear. In foreign lands where they have foot and mouth disease more or less all the time they don't kill the stock.

Hogs have fevers, measles, diphtheria and all kinds of diseases just like human beings. In a drove of 100 hogs I had two sick ones and took them away, put them where they couldn't get water, gave them two doses of salts, a quarter of a pound a day apart and in eight days they were all right and yet that was the so called cholera. There always has been disease among hogs and always will be; the more dope the more disease.

Are the farmers going to stand this kind of work by state officials. When the packers get the stock it gets healthy right away. He ships it where he pleases. The farmers can put a stop to this imposition if they will do it. When they pay their taxes they will see what hog killing by officials costs. We have an A. H. T. A. and I appeal to it to stop killing of animals by state officials.

Why is the farmer called hayseed? Because he falls into every person's trap. Why does every scallawag pick at the farmer? Because he knows the farmer's feathers are ripe for picking. Just let a fellow come through the country selling hog dope or something of the sort and see if he doesn't get a lot of customers. Just give him a shot and he will not come back for the second. Let your neighbors try the same game on you? Oh no. They will not get over it for 90 days. Then this fellow will fill the farmer full to the top and make him believe all he says and the farmer will go to his neighbor and make him believe he has got a sack full of gold and when he opens it he finds it is empty. That is what is going on in northern Illinois. Hog cholera serum backed up by the government and the government is unreliable.

Several years ago a fellow came here to sell a horse and surely enough sold him. He first made the acquaintance of an influential farmer and he went to see his neighbors and sold them shares for three times the value of the horse and this is the way the farmers help one another. Every other class works together but the farmers work against each other and as long as they do this they will be fuel for every one.

Why not organize? Every other business is organized. Why can't the farmers organize and have their own banks and packing houses? They would get full market prices and the consumer would get his food cheaper. Now the board of trade fixes the prices of grain and the packers fix the prices of stock. One fellow on the board of trade says the price of pork is $13.70 a barrel and that makes the market price for your hogs and mine. The packer makes his price to the consumer double and treble what we get for our hogs and that is why the average farmer barely gets a living. We think it terrible because Germany is ruled by one man yet no man is trying to control all live stock in Illinois. You farmers sit still and it will not be long till we are in the same condition as Germany.

The woman talks about the drams shops starving her children. The board of trade starves more children than all the drams shops. You never hear a preacher say a word against it. There is no politics in it. The preachers do their best against the drams shops. Why not work against these fellows? They are the worst gamblers in the world.

I see in the Chicago Post that in North Dakota the grain binders have the foot and mouth disease and twenty binders are quarantined and they can't cut their grain. They have appealed to the legislature. Now unless those federal job holders were put in the pen they will ruin the whole country. The sooner they are put in the better.

I. Culp.

Charles Baker, of Chapin, made a trip to the city yesterday.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE By The Associated Press.)

Berlin, Aug.—Not the least important among the probable effects of the war are the changes that it may cause in the educational system of Germany. The hard life in the trenches, now shared by thousands of German teachers, is evidently bringing them to the conclusion that the whole educational system must be overhauled and recast in the direction of emphasizing modern necessities.

Such a teacher is Dr. Herren, director of the gymnasium in Bueckeburg. In the trenches before Rheims, where he has been fighting for months, he has been talking with other teachers and with officers and men who have passed through the usual gymnasium course of training, and with their cooperation he has drawn up a scheme for the reform of the secondary schools. He sent his proposals to the leading school official of the Province of Hanover, who had them published as a "sign of the times and as suggestions for what should be done after peace is proclaimed."

The chief idea running through Dr. Herren's scheme is that education must be made more practical and modern; old studies that are chiefly valuable as mental discipline must be discarded or made optional; and boys must be trained more for the duties of present-day citizenship. Physical exercise and sports for the development of health and strength must be more freely cultivated. Manual training must be made obligatory in all the classes of the gymnasium; a workshop must be added to every school, and the boys must learn to know the qualities of all kinds of material, must learn to repair apparatus and machines, must work in metal and wood.

Coming down to the curriculum, Dr. Herren proposed to make Latin only an optional study after the boys pass into the three upper classes; and Greek and Hebrew are to be relegated to the Universities altogether. He would make History of prime importance in the course of study and would use it as a basis for teaching many other things, giving special attention to the leading features in the development of civilization and to the growth and development of the German people, and inspiring the young men with a sound hero-worship. To this end he would give rather scant attention to ancient and medieval history. Thorough instruction in the political systems of modern states, in the theories of the state, in constitutional history, is insisted upon. Geography must be much more thoroughly taught, especially commercial and political geography. "About every country the question must be asked: What interests have we there?"

After practically brushing aside the ancient languages Dr. Herren treats the leading modern languages with scarcely less generosity. French, "in view of its diminished importance," is made optional, and "English will probably have to be treated similarly."

London, Aug.—The big grocery firms in various parts of England have sent circulars to their customers, asking them to exercise the greatest possible economy in the use of loaf sugar, which is very popular in England for cooking, canning, and similar purposes. The grocers suggest the substitution of brown sugar for most uses.

Before the war the bulk of the loaf sugar used in England was imported from Austria, Germany and Belgium. This supply has been cut off, and there is therefore a considerable deficiency, which the few loaf-sugar refiners in England cannot make up. There has been no advance in price, however, and this is controlled by the Royal Commission on sugar.

Amsterdam, August.—Smuggling on a wholesale scale is proceeding at Bergen-op-Zoom, according to a frontier correspondent of the Telegraf. The traffic between Holland and Belgium in this region has never been so heavy, he declares, although much of the business violates, at least in spirit, the Dutch laws covering exports in time of war. On the two days preceding the filing of the correspondent's message only 24,000 kilograms of merchandise was allowed to cross the border at Bergen-op-Zoom, but this amount, it is claimed was abnormally small.

"Of rice alone," states the correspondent, "one hundred tons were sent last week to Belgium. Flour, bacon, and petroleum pass the frontier every day. At some hours the road between Bergen-op-Zoom and Putte reminds one of a migration—gives indeed the idea of a second exodus from Antwerp, only the stream is in the opposite direction. Carts of every description, bicyclists by hundreds, and foot passengers, all with bulky parcels as they go towards Belgium, but empty handed as they return."

It is explained that persons crossing the frontier are allowed to carry four pounds of rice and four pounds of flour. The peasants earn about forty cents carrying this quantity from Bergen-op-Zoom to Putte.

Peking, Aug.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—"Chinese goods for China" is the latest slogan in the new Republic. It represents the boycott against Japanese goods in a modified form, a form against which Japan can offer little objection.

wholly beyond the control of the Chinese Government.

But the boycott has been given a new twist by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organizations which started the "home made goods movement." The campaign is ostensibly directed against all wares not manufactured in China, but the Chinese have shown a greater disposition to do without Japanese goods than the products of other nations.

Cheap cotton goods and cigarettes have suffered more than other Japanese products, perhaps as a result of the boycott. Japanese goods are sold in China through Japanese selling agencies. Consequently Chinese merchants have no trouble in avoiding the wares of the country against which they feel a grievance. The falling off in the sale of cheap Japanese cotton goods has been so marked that Japan is seeking a market in India. A commission recently visited that country and another Japanese commission is to go later.

A delegation from the Osaka Chamber of Commerce visited Hong Kong, Shanghai and other Chinese cities in an effort to conciliate the Chinese merchants. It was announced that the feeling against Japanese manufactures was due to misunderstanding which could doubtless be removed by closer personal relations. Similar "get acquainted" movements have been organized by other Japanese commercial associations, but apparently without marked success.

Japanese shipping has been especially hard hit by the boycott. The ships of the Toyen Kisen Kaisha, which formerly carried several hundred Chinese in the steerage each trip, now seldom carry a single citizen of the new Republic. Chinese freight has also been diverted from the Japanese lines whenever possible. Chinese coolies and Chinese commercial concerns of large influence are lending a hand alike in the boycott.

One of the features of the home-made goods movement which may be of great interest to the United States is the effort to stimulate cotton manufacturing and cotton growing, as Japan formerly supplied largely quantities of coarse cotton goods to China. The Chinese now hope to supply themselves and are striving to interest capital in the enlargement of spinning works operating in Shanghai and Hong Kong.

No reliable figures are available concerning the cotton manufactures of Japan, but it is estimated that the number of spindles in the Republic varies from 900,000 to 1,200,000. Limited quantities of coarse cloth are made in nearly every province on hand looms. Coarse twist of foreign and home manufacture has been used in making this cloth. Printed cloth, as well as plain, has been made—this printing having been done chiefly on second-hand presses purchased in Japan. The wooden looms used by the primitive Chinese factories are mostly operated by hand and the output of each loom of this character is about three yards an hour. Machinery for spinning, spinning and weaving is mostly very crude and incapable of supplying the finer grades of cloth now bought from England, the United States, France and other European countries.

China imported about $105,000,000 worth of manufactured cotton in 1912. Of this amount about $67,000,000 worth was coarse fabrics and yarns of a sort which Chinese factories could produce. The same year it is estimated China raised slightly more than 300,000 tons of native cotton, only a small percentage of the amount required by its own factories.

Cotton is growing in eight of the southwestern provinces and in the Yangtze province, but the cultivation is so slummy that the yield per acre is small. Definite figures are not available, but the highest yield per acre is said to have been 176 pounds of cleaned cotton. Poor seed and bad cultivation are responsible for the short crop, as much of the land is said to be admirably adapted to cotton growing.

It is estimated that the amount of land in China available for cotton culture is 27,000,000 acres, with a possible increase of 2,000,000 acres through irrigation.

However, the successful extension of cotton manufacturing in China would necessitate a complete reorganization of its economic system. About half of the Central Government's income is derived from the import duty on manufactured cotton.

With the abolition of opium manufacture, the Government endeavored to persuade poppy farmers to turn their attention to cotton. This movement was not as successful as officials desired, but the Minister of Agriculture is endeavoring, through experimental farms, to popularize modern plows and make cotton more profitable.

Since the presentation of the Japanese demands upon China a popular defense fund of about $25,000,000 (Gold) has been subscribed. It is proposed to establish a bank with part of this fund which shall lend money to Chinese cotton mills and other industries which will make China more independent of other nations and keep its money at home.

Dr. Wu Ting-fang and many other prominent Chinese are lending their support to this new industrial movement. The Chinese Honorary Commercial Commission, which has just completed a tour of the United States is interested especially in inducing foreign capital to come to China, and through its observation of American methods hopes to be able to direct Chinese industries into more progressive channels.

London, Aug.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The raising of the general interest level in the British money markets through the issue of the war loan has had many unexpected consequences. One of these, just noted by the financial journals, is a disposition on the part of mortgagees to call in their mortgages, so that they may invest the money to better advantage.

"The movement is not perhaps unnatural, but its effect upon the owners of mortgaged property is in many cases embarrassing of a disastrous nature," remarks the Times. "Frequently the mortgagor regards the mortgage not as a short term loan, but as an investment, and he is placed in extreme difficulty when the loan is called in, not because he had defaulted on the interest payments, which he has kept up regularly for years, nor because there is the slightest chance of his defaulting but because the lender can use the money to better advantage under the new conditions which have arisen."

London, Aug.—German spies on the western front are both resourceful and daring, especially on the line occupied by the British.

"On one occasion," says a cavalry officer, "three German officers came right through our lines in a motor car. Two of them were disguised as French officers who were supposed to be bringing back the third as a prisoner; he, of course, being in German uniform. They got close to Army Headquarters before they were detected and captured."

"They are up to all sorts of dodges and we have to be wide-awake all the time to spot them. A plough with a white or grey horse has sometimes located the position of a battery of artillery to an enemy aeroplane. The movements of a flock of sheep, driven by a spy disguised as a peasant has sometimes given similar information."

Cleanse The Blood Banish Rheumatism

Rheumatism Due to Bad Blood. S. S. S. Your Remedy

Thousands have been made well. People in the poorest health, suffering from Rheumatism, with whom pain was constant. Who believed that their vitality was sapped beyond repair. It was proven to them that the cause of their trouble was the blood; that Uric Acid, the most faithful ally of Rheumatism, had gripped them. The poison in the blood had sapped its strength. The weakened blood had allowed poison and impurities to accumulate, and all energy was gone. They felt "poorly," were listless, pain was ever present, with poor digestion and dyspepsia. They tried S. S. S., nature's blood tonic. They gave up drugs. This compound of nature's remedies of roots and herbs did what drugs failed to do. It literally washed the blood free from poison, and with the flow of pure blood came back health, strength, vigor and happiness. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. Insist upon S. S. S. If yours is a long standing case, write for special advice to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., but begin taking S. S. S. at once.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

BUYING SPURT FROM SHORTS BRINGS AN ABUNDANCE IN WHEAT
Scare Spreads Among Shorts When Session Advances and No Grain is Delivered in Settlement of September Contracts.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Wheat closed strong at an advance of 3/4 to 3 cents today on a buying spurt from shorts who were uneasy at the fact that for the first time in the history of the exchange there was no delivery of wheat on Sept. 1.

The September option closed at 96 1/2c and December was at 93 1/2c. Corn closed unchanged to a net loss of 1/4c after a slight rally from opening weakness had been wiped out.

Oats closed 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher. Provisions finished weak at net losses of 7 1/2 to 30c.

Wheat at the opening was nervous, varying from 1/4c higher to 1 1/2c lower. When the session advanced and no grain had been delivered in settlement of September contracts a scare spread among the shorts that produced a few minutes of excited buying of the September option and this month occupied most of the attention of the wheat pit till the close of the market.

Corn was under liquidation at the start and followed wheat in a downward course for a time. There was free selling till noon when it was held in cash corn. Holders then began to withdraw their offerings and the futures market temporarily firmed up to near the best prices of the day.

September he most active option closed unchanged.

Oats had a firm tone most of the day. Sympathetic affect from the weakening of corn when it was at its lowest was prevented by heavy buying of oats on the part of leading cash interests.

Heavy liquidation on September contracts weakened provisions throughout the list. The close was near the low point with pork off 20 to 30c; lard 7 1/2 to 22 1/2c and ribs 15 to 17 1/2c.

CHICAGO & ALTON ROAD ADOPTS HUPP SYSTEM

New Invention Marks Wonderful Advance in Automatic Mail Exchange.

The Chicago & Alton Railroad has just closed a contract with the Hupp Automatic Mail Exchange company for the installation of a system of automatic mail exchange between fast trains and stations. This system is a wonderful advance in Railroad mail service, and the Chicago & Alton by this contract adds to a series of great railroad development which were first started on successful careers on this road, another advance step in railroad service. The Chicago & Alton was first to use the sleeping car, the dining car, the steel bridges, and other practical innovations.

Quite early in the handling of mails on railway trains the necessity for such exchanges became apparent, and in 1868 the present primitive device known as the Ward Hook was tried out at Lemont, Ill., on the Chicago & Alton. It was inadequate and inefficient, but in the absence of anything better it was placed in general service, and while the Railways and the Postoffice Department have been constantly on the alert for some system with which to replace it, up to this time, no satisfactory solution of the problem had been found, although many devices had been tried out.

The adoption of fast mail trains, rural free delivery and parcel post have added very materially to the urgent necessity for improvement in this particular part of the railway mail service.

After years of study and development Mr. Albert Hupp has perfected and brought forth a system which meets every requirement and condition of the service, exchanging at all speeds, any quantity of mail of any kind, fragile, perishable, or otherwise, with absolute certainty and safety.
Eggs packed for parcel post shipment may be handled without breakage at sixty miles an hour.

EGGPLANT COOKERY.

HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL

The purple and green of the eggplant is very attractive as it lies well displayed on the fresh vegetable stand of the market man, but many women do not buy it, because its preparation for the table
sealed book to them.

Perhaps this is because the season for them is not very long;
they do not keep fresh long after they are off the vines and their season ends with the first frosts.

Old fashioned recipes directed that the eggplant be sliced and soaked in salt water to "draw forth any poison in it." As we know now that this vegetable is rich in carbohydrates and most wholesome, this practice is abandoned and the plant cooked in any of the following ways:

Baked Eggplant—Select small ones for this use, wash and parboil ten minutes in salted water, drain and cut off the cap; scoop out the insides without breaking the skin.
Mix the pulp with buttered crumbs, minced ham, salt and pepper or with ham and curried rice.
Fill the shell with this and bake, basting often with butter. A little broth should be poured about the eggplant while it is baking and this may be thickened and poured over it after it is in the serving dish.

Fried Eggplant—Pare and cut in half-inch slices, and salt and pepper them. Have sufficient hot fat to cover the slices ready. Dip in beaten egg and then in flour, and fry one or two slices at a time a golden brown. Dress with tomato sauce and serve with planked steak or baked leg of mutton.

Eggplant may be pared, cut in slices and boiled in salted water until tender and then drained and bedressed with well-seasoned white sauce. It is also boiled and mashed like potatoes and then mixed with sufficient flour to mold into cakes.
These cakes or balls are fried brown in a little butter.

Questions and Answers.
"If cutting beets causes them to bleed, as you state in your answer to a reader last week, and vinegar draws the color from them, please tell me how I can put them up?
Should they be canned with skins intact?"—Puzzled."

Reply—Directions for canning beets were printed some time ago, but I am glad to repeat them: Cut tops from young beets, leaving about two inches of stems. Wash and boil in water and a half, then slip off the skins and slice or cut as you prefer. Pack into jars, cover with boiling water and sterilize in a steamer or boiler thirty minutes.
You may add sugar if you like them sweet. If a mild pickle is desired use equal parts of hot vinegar and water.

"What is the difference between red pepper, cayenne and paprika?"
Reply—Red pepper, cayenne, Mexican and Chili are obtained from the same plant and are identical.
Paprika is made from a sweet red pepper and is mild and pleasant;
the best grades come from Hungarian packing houses, but it is sold in bulk by large grocers. Paprika colors food a delicate pink, so it is usually passed in a shaker at the table, but foreign residents, appreciating its fine flavor, use it in almost all meat cookery.

FOOTBALL SQUADS BEGIN TRAINING.

More than a thousand colleges and schools throughout the country are preparing for the greatest gridiron campaign in the history of the sport. Already the squads are in training, and within the next few weeks the first games of the season will be played. Each succeeding Saturday will witness a steadily increasing schedule of contests until the top of the sport is reached late in November and the play declining to the final matches of early December.

Not since the early seventies, when American intercollegiate football was born, has there been an Autumn which held forth as much in the way of football activity as that of 1915. According to the official schedule prepared by the Rules Committee, close to 3000 games will be played by the leading college and school teams of the United States between Sept. 18 and Dec. 4.

The honor of opening the season falls to four Pennsylvania teams, for the Carlisle Indians play Albright and Bucknell opposes Bloomsburg Normal in the first games of the Autumn on Saturday, Sept. 18. A week later the activity will spread to scores of line-marked fields, for more than one hundred colleges play their opening games, including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsy, Dartmouth, Tennessee, Virginia, Vanderbilt, etc.

Cornell will not begin play until the final days of this month. On Oct. 2 the military academy and the naval academy eleven will make their debut, against Holy Cross and Georgetown respectively.

Michigan, like Cornell, has selected a midweek day for her opening game, but will join the Saturday players on Oct. 9th. Minnesota plays Iowa that day, Cornell meets Williams, Harvard plays the Indians, and Princeton meets Syracuse. A week later, Chicago vs. Indiana, Georgetown vs. North Carolina, Pennsy vs. Navy, and other important games are scheduled. On Oct.
23, Harvard and Cornell clash, and Princeton clashes with the big Green team from Dartmouth. The Navy meets Virginia Polytech, Michigan matches up with her Aggie neighbors, and Yale entertains Washington and Jefferson.

The final Saturday in October brings some intercollegiate games that will be watched with interest.
Michigan plays Syracuse, Cornell faces Virginia Polytech, and Michigan Aggies oppose the Oregon Aggies. Chicago meets Wisconsin, Yale and Colgate meet, Princeton plays Williams and Dartmouth is at Amherst, on the same day.

The first Saturday of November finds Pennsy and Dartmouth fighting it out at Boston, Princeton and Harvard clashing at Princeton, and Cornell invades the west to play Michigan. Yale will have her hands full with Brown.

A week later the headlines in the East will be Yale vs. Princeton, while Minnesota and Chicago will play the leading role in the Middle West. Michigan will be at Pennsyvania and Washington and Lee at Cornell on the same day.

The final games of many college
eleven will be played on Saturday, Nov. 20. The annual contest between Harvard and Yale at Cambridge stands preeminent on the day's card, but there are other games of importance scheduled, including Colgate at Georgetown, Dartmouth at Syracuse and Illinois at Chicago.

Thanksgiving day brings together Pennsy and Cornell at Philadelphia, the Carlisle Indians and Brown, Syracuse and the University of Montana at Missoula, Notre Dame and Texas, at Austin, Southern California and Oregon Aggies at Frisco, and Vanderbilt and the University of the South, at Nashville.

The annual Army-Navy game is set for Saturday, Nov. 27, and New York gets the big game. Syracuse winds up its Western trip on Dec. 1 at Portland, Ore., against the Oregon Aggies.

COMMUNICATION TO

W. N. HAIRGROVE.

My Dear Mr. Hairgrove:
I saw in the Journal last Sunday
a very touching appeal to the voters to give the present commissioners time to see if they could do anything to relieve the city of the present distressing condition of its finances. It admits that they are deplorable. That the credit of the city is at a very low ebb. It informs the voters that if it were not for the threatened change in government that steps would be taken to relieve the financial distress.

I would like to know why the possible change should prevent them from doing their duty. They are drawing down a salary at the rate of $8,800 a year and while they are doing so allowing the poor men who are working for the city to peddle their city warrants about and discount them to whatever amount is demanded in order that they get some money to live on.

Their actions look very much like dirty politics, a brazen effort to intimidate voters, to starve them into voting for the present form through necessity.

The Courier informed the public that there was money spent to procure signatures on the petition that was circulated for the purpose of asking for the change in government.
I presumed it published the item as well as a list of the names to the petition along with the names of the parties who circulated them purely as a news item, not with any intention to slur or discredit the movement in any respect. And as a newspaper I think it might also print a list of the names who circulated and signed the petition to ask for the change to the commission form, and also who was responsible for scouring the country from Maine to Texas and paid the expenses of the speakers they induced to come here and tell the voters of the beauties of the fact; but there have been good men elected to office in Jacksonville under the old form. Several years ago in connection with Mr. Tilton I contested an election held under the old form and as a result Charles H. Widmayer became the mayor of Jacksonville. That action was said to have been one of the most corrupt in the history of Jacksonville. I have known of various elections contested under the old form and the election was stolen. In this last election George P. Davis was elected a commissioner but he is not serving. It was agreed that he should be appointed to his present position if he would not contest that election. I say that he was elected, but that he did not get the office. And this happened in greater Jacksonville under the commission form. It has been said that thieves were elected to office under the old form, but I remember some good men who held office. I see here in the audience Abe Gregory, T. J. Bronson, Daniel Babin, F. M. Morton, Edward Loneragan, Michael McGinnis, who served in that council and I might name many other good citizens. The last two mayors under the old form were C. H. Widmayer and H. H. Bancroft, and I have heard no one attacking their character. Good men were elected under that form and without the aid of the woman vote. Everything that this city has today was secured under the aldermanic form. Our water system was established and was kept for us when an effort was made to grab it under the aldermanic form. They will tell you that a portion of the city's debt was paid by the commission form, but all that has been paid is due to the sinking fund ordinance passed nearly twenty years ago by which it is obligatory that certain bonds must be paid off each year.

The Salary Question.

Under the commission form law if Jacksonville had not more than 15,000 people the total yearly maximum salary for mayor and commissioners is $4,800. Because the census shows that Jacksonville has 15,326 people, it has been possible to make those salaries total $5,800 a year. And so taking care of the affairs of this 326 people has cost the city that $4,000. Under the commission form the mayor can receive $2,000 a year and devote whatever time he wants to city affairs, while under the old form the salary is $1,200 and his whole time must be devoted. They will tell you that the adoption of the commission form has done away with politics, but I want to say that the faces of the crowd controlling city affairs look mighty familiar to me. The old form was more representative than the present, and witness, that all of the present council live on the west side of Jacksonville. The commission form makes it possible for three men to control the city's affairs and it gives them too much power. They appoint the treasurer and the clerk and other officials who were formerly chosen by the people.

The people who have signed the petition have been termed 'a bunch of sore heads' but I have sought no office and asked nothing from the present council. When I voted for Mayor Rodgers I expected him to give up his present position and devote his time to city affairs. He is not acting unlawfully and is complying with the terms of the law, and so I am against the law, and I am against this expensive form of government.

Mr. Hairgrove as City Attorney

I never believe in chopping wood with the dull side of the axe for I would rather have the chips fly. I was appointed city attorney under the commission form but found that I was attorney for the commission and not for the people, and so I quit the job. I didn't take the job for the salary connected with it but because I wanted to do certain things and when I found I was not to be the attorney for the people, I quit. The present council has not complied with the law which requires them to award city printing to the lowest bidder and I suppose this action has been delayed in order to curry favor with both papers, working both ends against the middle, and keeping the papers hoping that each will be the one to get up to the 'pie counter'.

School Affairs.

Then Mr. Hairgrove turned his attention to school affairs and referred to the fact that he had been in partnership with the late George Smith who for twenty-two years served as a member of the school board as a representative of the first ward. He charged that Dr. Clampt and E. E. Wells, together with Supt. Collins, outlined the action taken May 3, when the superintendent and teachers were appointed by the vote of Mayor Rodgers and the two board members just mentioned. 'They had this mess fixed up for the mayor,' he said, 'and they took him up in the high places and showed him great possessions. Later on I looked up the law on their action and at a board meeting called attention to it, but like a great many others who were present at that meeting, I was run over. I have said that I was dry picked at that meeting and if you do not know what dry picking means, I will explain that that is the way they do with chickens at the big plants. They stick an iron through the chicken's head and then pick off all the feathers in a moment's time without the ceremony of scalding water.' Mr. Hairgrove attacked the record of Mr. Wells as a member of the old council and referred briefly to the Morrissey shortage, declaring that the former city attorney and collector of assessments, now deceased, was insane for years prior to his death and that he was imposed upon in his lifetime by a number of men who benefited financially by his actions.

Too Many Superintendents.

'But I am opposed to this commission form,' he said, 'because it is too expensive and does not bring results, and I believe with John A. Bellatti, who said to me recently that if the city had ever received ten cents' worth of good for the extra $25,000 spent for government operation under the commission form, that he would like to know about it. The commission law contemplates four department superintendents and one general manager, and there is not enough work in a city of the size of Jacksonville for such superintendents and managers. Under the aldermanic form men would be chosen by wards. Men and women in those wards would know more intimately the character of the men for whom they were voting. And when aldermen were elected, these same men and women would have some one directly representing them. Now when you vote for four commissioners you have no idea to what department they will be assigned and cannot choose them from the standpoint of fitness. Jacksonville might have use for one high salaried man as a manager, but certainly no use for five. I voted for the commission form and for four out of five of the present officials but I have repented the action and now I am endeavoring to secure the old form because I believe it is better for the city in which we live.'

GAME WARDENS HELD CONFERENCE AT HAVANA.

Discussed Laws For Further Understanding of Their Duties.

At the instance of J. M. Entwistle, district game warden, there was a meeting in Havana Tuesday of the wardens and deputies of the Third district for the purpose of getting acquainted and discussing the game laws so that each one should have a better understanding of the duties pertaining to their several departments for the more efficient accomplishment of the purpose for which they were appointed. There was present 25 and the meeting was interesting and instructive to a large degree.

It is the intention of Mr. Entwistle and a number of the deputies in the near future to visit various localities among them the large reservoir at Concord, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is advisable to stock that body of water with fish and making it one of the preserves of Morgan county. The present district warden has had several years' experience in fish culture and distribution, and it is his purpose to stock all available waters of the state with young fish.

The present is the first time in the history of the state that he appointments in the fish and game department has had politics eliminated from it, and the appointments to the various positions in it are now subject to civil service examinations.

The efficient deputy in this locality is G. J. Dowell, whose headquarters are at his home in Franklin and he is most enthusiastic in the work in which he is engaged and he believes the proper enforcement of the provisions of the law will prove to the betterment of everyone.
